

Hello to all our children and families. My apologies for the late newsletter this month! Things have been very different lately and we hope you are all well and keeping safe.

We are missing all of our children and families and look forward to nursery opening as normal. We are working closely with the government guidelines and we will remain closed until further notice, except for children of critical workers and children who are vulnerable. We will only re-open our nursery as normal when the scientific advice indicates it is safe to do so.

As lots of families are at home with little ones who may need entertaining I have some suggestions for activities. Firstly a new free audio book is available everyday with Elevenses from David Walliams and you can also catch up on the books you have missed if you access the following website <https://www.worldofdavidwalliams.com/elevenses>

Secondly there is a completely free daily programme with engaging activities for 3-5 year olds (& older siblings) set by EY educators following the website <https://www.eyfshome.com/>.

If you have any further suggestions for activity ideas please let me know so I can share with our children and families. Previous ideas which have already been shared by our children and their families include crafts, den building and an obstacle course in the garden.

I would like to take the opportunity to thank all our families for their support during this uncertain and challenging time. We are doing our best to ensure we follow the guidelines which are set and I will continue to update parents once I have the information.

Please also like our Facebook page where updates are posted on there. I can be contacted on the nursery number Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and via email anytime nicolesilverdawn@aol.co.uk. Please feel free to send photos as we would love to see what your little ones have been up to and can show the children who are still attending nursery.

Keep safe Nicole x
